❖ NESTO Table Runners

A NESTO table runner is an easy way to dress up an exhibition stand, by mixing and matching your plain table cover with a printed narrow table runner over the table cover which actually hangs over the edge of the table.

These NESTO printed runners are often found bearing corporate logos at job fairs or tradeshow, monograms at wedding receptions, as well as graphics for registration tables at different affairs.

Some companies opt to print their corporate message or logo on the table runner instead of the whole table throw as it is less expensive than printing a full table throw.

Other companies find that it adds a level of convenience when they represent more than one company name.

The table runners are dye sublimation printed for full photographic quality - capable of printing a simple logo or an elaborate photo in vivid color.

The process is also permanent. Thus, you will have a printout that is not just sharp and realistic in colour and detail, but will never crack or fade out even if you wash or dry clean it.
